The News.

The reader will find the dispatches this evening unusually interesting and important. Grant and Meade, it will be seen, are watching Lee narrowly, in order that he does not send troops to the South to confront and embarrass Sherman. From General Sherman we have absolutely nothing, except what is derived from rebel sources, and that is quite vague and indefinite. The latest is from the Richmond Examiner of the 30th ult., which states that Sherman had set off in the direction of the sea coast.

A full report of Wednesday's fight between the forces of Thomas and Hood, is given elsewhere. The losses on both sides correspond with the figures previously given. It is highly probable that another great battle will be fought there before Monday night.

P. S. A later dispatch via New York from Port Royal, dated Nov. 25th, says Sherman is within forty miles of Savannah. Gold closed at 2.204.

A recent editorial in the Jackson, Mississippi is important as showing that the sober second thought is entering the southern mind. The Mississippi, before the war, was a fire-eating journal, and since the outbreak of hostilities has been more fierce than ever. Now, however, we find it saying:

"Could the people of the late United States have caught a glimpse of the awful gulf that yawned beneath them: they would have shrunk from taking the fearful leap, and both sections would have abated somewhat of their arrogance, intolerance and fanaticism. They would have sought and found the means of reconciliation, and their conduct towards each other would have been characterized by Christian forbearance, instead of fanatical intolerance. The North was in the most inopportune position, and, therefore, is undoubtedly the greater sinner of the two; but it is needless to deny that the South met these aggressions in a spirit calculated not to assuage but to pour oil on the passionate elements and to invite the collision. The North was fanatic; the South was arrogant. The North bullied; the South bantered. Slavery was the rock that shipwrecked the ship of State." The Mississippi then goes on to argue that the South was literally compelled to secede, but adds: "We do not mean to have it inferred that they were guiltless in those things which made secession unavoidable. In this matter they as well as the North have to shoulder their share of the original sin of fostering the demon of discord."

BENJAMIN G. HARRIS, the Maryland secessionist has been re-elected. It is a consolation, however, to know that should he say in the thirty-ninth Congress as he did in the first session of the thirty-eighth, that he hoped to God the Federal army would not be victorious, he will be speedily expelled, as the unconditional Union men will have more than two-thirds of the House, &c.

The late Chief Justice Taney is said to have had no faith in the war as a means of restoring the Union, and looked with gloomy foreboding on the future. In a letter written a short time before his death, he says, "the times are dark with evil omens," and hopes "this generation may live to see days of law and order return," intimating at the same time that he scarcely believed it would.

We have to add to the Democratic papers which have suspended since the election, the Cambria (Pa.) Democrat, the Washington Democrat, the Burlington Argus and Messenger Courier, in Iowa and the Norwalk Experiment and Ottawa County Democrat, in Ohio.

The lecture of Mr. McDermott, at Lippin's Hall, last evening, was well attended. He set forth the wrongs of Ireland, gave the British government some caustic thrusts, and stated the aims and objects of the Fenian Brotherhood. He was listened to with marked attention.

The Richmond Dispatch, in an editorial favors the appointment of Gen. Lee as a military adviser to Congress, with the understanding that his decisions will always be abided by. It also favors the granting of plenary powers to the secretary of the treasury.

DAN VOGUE, following the example of Vallandigham, is about to drop politics, remove to New York City, and "resume the practice of the law." He should be careful what papers he is leaving around loose in his law office.

THE SHEBOYGAN Times thinks that the vote of the soldiers not only elects Bentley republican, to the Senate from that county, but elects also the whole republican ticket, with the exception of clerk of the Board of Supervisors.

THE HUDON Star says quite a number of the citizens of that county made an excursion to Canada in view of the draft, and thinks there will be little hushery in that section connected with former years.

Accounts on file in the department at Washington show the singular fact that, since the rebellion began, forty thousand more Southern whites than blacks have received assistance from the Government.

The Louisiana Congressional delegation—two Senators and four Representatives—are at Washington, and will apply for admission to seats in Congress on the meeting of that body.

LOCAL MATTERS.

A variety of interesting reading matter will be found on the fourth page of to-day's paper.

At the solicitation of a number of our citizens, Mr. McDermott will lecture again in this city on Monday night. Subject—Fetters; Republicanism and Monarchy.

Rev. Mr. ANDERSON has arrived, and will officiate at the Baptist Church to-morrow as announced in yesterday's paper. He will no doubt receive a cordial welcome from his many friends in this vicinity.

SUNDAY EVENING LECTURES.—Rev. Mr. Farrington will deliver a course of lectures in Hope Chapel upon the lives of men, eminent for their influence upon religious thought. Subject tomorrow evening:—MADONNET.

HUGHES' MILITARY MAP OF RICHMOND.—Major Hughes is selling in this city, a new and excellent military map of Richmond and Petersburg, just published by himself with the sanction of the War Department. The Major has had unusual facilities for getting up an accurate map of this description, as he was taken prisoner while hearing dispatches from our Government, and imprisoned for a long time in Richmond. After his escape, he used his knowledge of civil engineering to good advantage among the fortifications of the rebel capital, and has produced one of the best maps we have seen. As we may look for important movements shortly in that direction, every man will find Major Hughes' map a handy thing for reference.

MISSOURI.—At the annual meeting of the Grand Council No. 2, Royal and select masters, held at the Masonic Hall on the 24th day of December, 1864, the following companions were elected as officers of the Council for the ensuing year: C. The following named Companions were elected officers of Janesville Chapter No. 5, R. A. M.: C. Loftis Martin, H. P. S. H. Marquisse, Wm. H. Schaefer, Scribe. George C. Williams, C. H. Moses Harsh, P. RECEIVED COINS.—How difficult it is to realize that the holidays are so close upon us! It seems but a hand's breadth since we celebrated those festive days of 1863; and yet another year has well nigh gone, with its freightage of vast events; and this budget of human joys and sorrows almost made up. How many hearts were made glad for the whole year by a judicious bestowment of some appropriate present, which, not only for its intrinsic worth, but for the circumstances of bestowal, carried a gleam of sunshine to the heart of the recipient, which dwells there still.

In this connection we cannot forbear to mention the many useful and beautiful things, admirably adapted for holiday presents, we noticed this morning among the choice goods just opened at the jewelry store of J. A. Webb & Co. Something new and rich in the way of plate for tea and dinner service, of exquisite pattern; heavy solid silver ware, of the newest pattern; all the varieties of time-keepers from the tiniest to the most substantial watch; jewelry of the rarest and richest patterns; and in fact, everything which is usually found in an extensive and well kept jewelry establishment. But in order to have a realizing sense of the wealth and beauty of the stock just opened, we would advise our readers to go and look for themselves, and prepare for Santa Claus.

FROM THE SOUTH.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—The following dispatch has been received at the War Department:

CITY POINT, Va., Dec. 1.—Hon. L. M. Stanton, Secretary of War:—The Richmond Examiner of to-day admits that Sherman will succeed in reaching the sea coast. Other papers admit that he has crossed the Oconee. (Signal.)

U. S. GRANT, Lt. Gen. Washington, Dec. 2.—It is said by those who have seen Richmond papers of Wednesday last, that they contain only a repetition of the statement that Gen. Sherman is still doubting about in the interior of Georgia. It is also stated that detachments of Yankee cavalry sent in the direction of Beaufort, were either captured or killed or dispersed.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—The Richmond Enquirer of the 30th says: "There is no very important news beyond the confirmation of the report that the enemy set off in the direction of the sea coast. A small body of cavalry day before yesterday, struck the railroad between Savannah and Augusta at Waynesboro, thirty-six miles from Augusta and were said by some to have plundered a passenger train there yesterday. We are informed that the expedition had been intercepted; part of the raiders captured and the rest of them driven back on Sherman's main body. The object of his movement is easily seen. This party were on their way to Beaufort to carry the intelligence of Sherman's position to his Government and communicate his way and plans."

The Richmond Whig of the 26th says: From the southern papers of the 25th received last night we glean little that is prudent to publish. The Augusta Constitutionalist is in high spirits.

The Sentinel says it is to be hoped that the people of the region through which Sherman proposes to pass, will fling themselves upon him with a courage that shall do them honor. There is a capital difference between his situation and that of Hood. He is an enemy's country, while Hood is among friends. No sacrifice of property must be counted now or considered excessive. Near down bridges, block the roads, remove or destroy supplies, cut off foragers and fight at every pass. If Sherman should be able to accomplish such a journey as he proposes, foraging as he goes, it will be a proof that he was not resisted.

The Whig after stating that it is strictly prohibited from publishing information concerning Sherman, says: "From all we can see either in our own papers or those of New York, Sherman is making as fast as he can move for Beaufort, and that his design is to unite his forces with Grant's. Whether our forces will be able to stop him or not depends on so many contingencies that it is impossible to form an opinion on the subject. That he will take Savannah or Charleston in Augusta, we do not fear in the least. If he is able to take even Macon it is more than we believe."

THE WAR IN TENNESSEE.

LOUISVILLE, Dec. 2.—This morning's Journal says that General Thomas has advanced his strong position at Franklin, and formed his line of battle within three miles of Nashville. Yesterday evening the hostile armies were engaged in a skirmish, and the rattle of musketry could plainly be heard in the streets of Nashville. A battle terrible is imminent. We do not believe Gen. Thomas has any fears for the result. He is not as weak as he would make the rebels believe. He can offer battle to better advantage to himself in front of Nashville than at any other point. His left wing rests on Murfreesboro and when strengthened by the forces at Chattanooga, it will be strong enough to close upon Hood's rear and cut off his retreat. The rebel General is pressing boldly forward. Thomas has prepared a trap and the foe is too eager to nibble at the bait. Already the lines are closing and each hour the spreads of the net are more completely woven around him.

NASHVILLE, Dec. 2.—I have received full accounts of the late battle at Franklin. For three days sharp skirmishing was kept up during the retirement of our army from Duck river to Franklin. Gen. Cox conducted the rear guard and on the 29th, achieved a splendid victory over the rebels at Spring Hill, while Wilson's cavalry gained a series of important successes over Forrest's advance under Rodley. Owing to Gen. Cox's gallant check at Spring Hill, a portion of the 48th and 23d corps were enabled to reach Franklin early in the day, where they threw up a line of breastworks extending from one end to the other of the curves in the river, behind which our infantry took position.

At precisely 4 o'clock in the afternoon, the entire rebel force made a charge and succeeded in making a temporary break in the center, commanded by Wagner. With characteristic impetuosity the soldiers of Cheatham's corps dashed into the breastworks and co-operating with an attacking party on the left, attempted to envelop and destroy our right, but in the nick of time the troops of Wagner were rallied and throwing their whole force upon the rebel columns, drove back the swarming party in great disorder, capturing several hundred prisoners. The rebels made three charges in three lines and were often repulsed with great slaughter. The rebels numbered at least two to one. Nearly half of the 4th and 23d corps were in reserve. Our breastworks were knee high. The rebel loss in killed is three times as great as our own, while their wounded is at least six times as great as ours. Most of ours were wounded in the head, arms or body.

The artillery fire of the enemy was made with great precision but their ammunition consisted chiefly of shot and shell while for two hours immense quantities of more murderous missiles were hurled with fearful fury into the rebel lines. All attempts of the rebels to gain a permanent advance were frustrated and at dark the federal position was unchanged while the rebels retired to a corner of woods south of the Columbia pike. The rebel loss as before stated, is fully 6,000, including over 1,000 prisoners, an unusual number of which were officers. Our loss reached a total of about 1,000. The artillery duel was kept up till nearly midnight when our troops commenced crossing Harpeth river, bringing all our trains and paraphernalia over in safety before daylight and the army retired to within four miles of this city, at which point our front line confronts the enemy.

NASHVILLE, December 2.—General Hood succeeds General Stanley in command of the 4th corps, General Stanley being unable to take the field. His desperate bravery at the Franklin fight mainly contributed to what threatened to be a disastrous repulse into a glorious victory. When at last his command was before the enemy, he rushed to the front, and though his horse was shot from under him and himself wounded, led on the charge, calling on his men to follow and rallying his faltering troops and repelling seven successive charges. Colonel Opdyke, 125th Ohio, commanding a brigade specially distinguished himself in the engagement. The importance of the victory at Franklin cannot be over-estimated as it checked Hood's onward progress and gave the federal time to make due preparation to meet him. Schofield and Stanley are commanding corps in the field.

LOUISVILLE, Dec. 3d.—The Journal says a letter from Nashville states that it was reported in that city Wednesday evening, that Capron's brigade of cavalry, consisting of the 24th Illinois with five Ohio and the 9th Michigan cavalry regiments, was surrounded by rebels and only escaped capture by desperate fighting. They cut their way through the rebel line and joined Gen. Thomas in the rear of Franklin. A number of men were made prisoners. Loss in killed and wounded was not light. The same evening, a train of cars was captured at Brentwood, nine miles from Nashville.

All the citizens of Nashville who have engaged in no ostensible business have been ordered to leave the city. Six hundred rebel prisoners, part captured by Gen. Thomas in the battle at Franklin, arrived last night on a train from Nashville. They will be sent forward to Camp Douglas as rapidly as possible, in order to make room in the military prison here, for other prisoners that may be captured.

NASHVILLE, Dec. 2.—There is slight skirmishing with cavalry all day to-day. A complete line of entrenchments encircles the city. A portion of our cavalry force encountered Forrest's rebel cavalry three miles from town on the Franklin pike. The rebels could be plainly seen advancing towards them, and our troops then retired towards the city. Night coming on, but few occasional shots were exchanged.

It is rumored that Hood is endeavoring to cross the Cumberland river with a large cavalry force. Many experienced officers predict an engagement to-morrow. Our forces occupy lines around the city and are in line of battle.

Three soldiers were shot and killed by guards in the street in this city this evening. Their names are, Arthur Chena, 8th Kansas, John McCarthy, 30th Ind., and James Brant, 7th Ill. cavalry.

LOUISVILLE, Dec. 30.—At 1:20 p. m., yesterday, the rolling stock of the Louisville and Nashville railroad was ordered hither; to-day the order was countermanded.

Several rumors represent a Federal recovery at Clarksville Tennessee. The story grew out of a dash of the rebels into Gallatin yesterday where they captured about 200 head of beavers. Our forces are pursuing and will probably capture the raiders.

LOUISVILLE, Dec. 3.—The Journal contains the following special: The enemy has been wary to-day, and has demonstrated with great caution against our outer line which is carefully concealed and extends from river to river. The enemy's cavalry have been in plain view all day on the Franklin pike. Just before dusk our cavalry pushed out toward the enemy's line, compelling him to retire, but afterwards the rebels were reinforced, took up their own line and at once threw out skirmishers. Some skirmishing occurred, neither party sustaining any damage. No rebel infantry has been discovered. Some artillery firing occurred this afternoon on the left. But few shots were fired.

FROM GRANT'S ARMY.

CITY POINT, Dec. 1.—General Gregg's cavalry was sent south this morning on a reconnaissance, more particularly to see if the enemy were moving troops south. The following dispatches are just received in relation to it.

HEADQUARTERS, ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, Dec. 1, 8 o'clock, p. m.—To Lieut. General Grant: I have just heard from General Gregg. His dispatch is dated 4 o'clock, p. m. He reports having captured Stony Creek Station, which was defended by infantry and cavalry in works with artillery. He captured two pieces of artillery, but had no means of bringing them off, so he spiked them and destroyed the carriages. He had 190 prisoners, 3 wagons and 30 mules. He burned the depot, with 3,000 sacks of corn, 500 bales of hay, a train of cars, a large amount of bacon, clothing, ammunition and other government stores, and destroyed all the shops and public buildings. The 2d brigade, General Gregg commanding, is reported to have almost carried the enemy's position. General Gregg is now returning to camp.

No information can be obtained of any troops going southward, either cavalry or infantry. The bed of the branch lead from Stony Creek was seen to be graded but no rails were laid. At Duval's station, south of Stony Creek, much property was destroyed and a large amount of railroad iron was found. An effort was being made to destroy it by fire when the staff officer, who brought the dispatch, left. The enemy showed signs of having concentrated and were following, but the officer thinks General Gregg will be in camp by midnight. (Signed,) GEO. G. MEADE. HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, Nov. 30.—The utmost quiet had prevailed along the lines for several days past, until yesterday afternoon when our batteries at Fort Hill opened fire for the edification of our English visitors. At first the enemy did not reply but after a short time they opened from several points, and for a time a perfect shower of shot and shell fell in and around Fort Hill. Unfortunately just at this time some of the troops on duty in the vicinity, were being relieved, and several casualties occurred. Lt. Col. Stafford of the 86th N. Y. Vol. was killed, and it is said he cannot recover. Towards dark the artillery firing ceased, but the pickets kept their exchanges all night. To-night they are briskly engaged in the same neighborhood.

Deserters continue to come into our lines daily, they all seem heartily tired of the war. They speak of the discontent and demoralization prevailing in the rebel ranks, and express their belief in the speedy disruption of the Confederacy. Gov. Bradford and a number of prominent citizens of Maryland arrived here to-day. They come to present flags to several of the Maryland regiments in the 5th corps, and the presentation is expected to take place to-morrow.

W. D. MCGREGOR.

FROM NEW ORLEANS.

New York, Dec. 2.—The Era contains details of Gen. Lee's great cavalry expedition, fully confirming previous reports as to its success. Col. Fonda, 118th Ill., was in command of one column and proceeded to Port Hudson, thence to Jackson, and on the 16th, ten miles from Jackson, he surprised a rebel camp, dispersed it, captured fifty-five prisoners, 200 head of arms, 100 horses, twenty army wagons, and a large amount of military stores. He then moved forward and joined the main column under Gen. Lee, who thus reinforced marched upon Liberty. Another column had been started from Baton Rouge to Liberty, under Col. Marsh 2d Ill. cavalry. This column reached Liberty and surprised the rebel Gen. Hodge in command there. He barely escaped capture by jumping from a back window, but all the members of his staff were taken, including Lieutenant Davis, a nephew of Jeff. Davis. Col. Marsh remained here until the arrival of Gen. Lee, when two expeditions were dispatched still further into the enemy's lines, one going to Brook Haven under Col. Fonda, and the other to Summit, under Col. Bassford, of the 14th New York cavalry.

At Brookhaven, a train of cars loaded with all kinds of military stores, was captured and destroyed, also buildings containing Quartermaster's stores, and fifty prisoners were taken. It then returned to Liberty with some valuable trophies of the successful raid. While these expeditions were progressing, Gen. Lee was attacked at Liberty by Col. Scott and a most vigorous fight was kept up for two hours, and although Lee's forces were outnumbered by Scott's, the rebels were finally obliged to retire. The result of the fight was the capture of 23 prisoners, one 12 pound howitzer and 30 left dead on the field. The expedition then returned to Baton Rouge. Our loss is not over 20.

A fire occurred at Baton Rouge on the 22d, in a building formerly used as a manufactory, but latterly as a government stable. Over $20,000 worth of property was burned, consisting of mules, horses and harnesses.

Cairo, Dec. 1.—The steamer Laramie brings New Orleans dates of the evening of the 25th. The east wing of the Penitentiary was burned on the night of the 22d, in consequence of carelessness in the contraband quarters of the building; 110 mules and horses, and 150 sets of harness, belonging to the government were consumed, which with the buildings involved a total loss of $75,000.

Baltimore, Dec. 3.—The party referred to in the statement of the paroled soldiers from Georgia, as connected with the incendiary plot to burn the Northern cities, is understood here to be one Morris Montgomery a prominent actor in the secession movement in this city about the month of April. He was at the time, an officer in the Maryland Guard and left Baltimore during the first year of the war, to join the rebel cause.

New York, Dec. 2.—The Commercial's Washington special says there is high military authority for saying that the situation in Tennessee augurs success. There are positive indications through rebel sources that Sherman is advancing triumphantly toward the sea coast. Other commanding Generals will soon be heard from.

Boston, Dec. 2.—The Boston papers appear to day with their columns well filled as usual, the strike of the printers having failed. The proprietors will continue to pay good wages to competent hands, reserving the right to employ whom they please and generally manage their business in their own way.

New York, Dec. 2.—Muller was executed in London on the 11th, making a confession on the scaffold.

New York, Dec. 2.—Gold firm and steady, opening at 232, going up to 233; and down again to 232.

DEDICATION OF THE CATHOLIC CHURCH!

The dedication of the new Catholic Church recently erected in this city, will take place on

SUNDAY NEXT, DECEMBER 4TH,

Right Rev. Bishop He

Religion.

Religion, as introduced to us by our Saviour, attracts our attention and engages our affections, not by any solemn pomp or formal parade, but by her beautiful and interesting simplicity, her real and intrinsic worth. Nor has she been introduced to us, merely that she may dwell in our temples to be gazed at from a distance and occasionally adored. No, she has been introduced to us, that we might take her firmly by the hand, conduct her into our homes and seat her by our firesides—not as an occasional visitor there, but as an intimate friend—perfectly free and unreserved, ready to lend her aid in making home the abode of happiness, or to go forth with us and assist in the elevating and purifying the pleasures and the intercourse of social life, ever ready to assist in the various labors of life—to guide and cheer the conversation—to lend our sympathy with those who are mourning. It is her office to elevate and improve mankind, not by looking down upon them from above, but by dwelling familiarly and habitually among them, restraining, by the respect which her presence inspires, everything impure and unbecomingly, she has taken her position after the pure, the holy, the spiritual, the ideal, and eternal. Such was the Christian Religion as introduced to us by our Saviour. Would that she might ever remain such, an inmate of our homes, a member of our family circles, whose form and features are familiar to our children, and for whom their attachment grows with their growth and strengthens with their strength. But such have not, it would seem, been the feelings of mankind in regard to her. They, filled with admiration, perhaps, for her excellence, and having felt she might be treated with the familiarity, have thought to add to her dignity and increase the respect entertained for her, by enveloping her in folds of unattainable mystery, and by suffering her to be approached only in a formal manner, upon the set day when at the appointed places where she holds her levees. The consequences of this are such as might have been expected. While there are multitudes of admirers of Religion, one of a higher order of beings altogether above and beyond all themselves, there are few who make her the companion of their daily walk—a few who take her to themselves, and in the firm conviction that they are made for each other, leave all things else, cleave unto and become one with her.

Would that we might all embrace Christianity as she is in herself—as she was introduced to us by our Saviour, in all her simplicity—in all her purity—that we might make her the companion of our lives—the friend of our hearts. She is one who will with readiness accompany us wherever we go—putting out of us the way of our only true and rational happiness. Are we children, she will teach us the duties of children. Are we parents, she will instruct us in our duties as parents. In prosperity she will increase our happiness—in adversity she will sweeten our cup—in sickness she will alleviate our pains, and when called away by the stern summons of death, she will accompany us and introduce us into the society of heaven with which she is intimate—the society of our God—of Jesus our Saviour—and of the spirits of the just made perfect, accompanying whom she has often conversed with us, making us acquainted with their principles, feelings and characters, and enjoying within us a desire to be with them.—Jason Wallman.

Religious Training.—How willing we are to engage in speculative discussions; to talk and argue and reason about subjects of the mysterious doctrines of the soul, and to persuade ourselves because we are interested in those things, that it is all right with us. Men will argue about the state of the soul between the time of death and the time of judgment. Will discuss the probability of our having the same bodies in a glorified state to which our souls are united in this world; agitate their minds about the condition of lost angels, and a thousand such things drawing their thoughts away from one great question, whether the promise of the Father be yet come upon them, whether the spirit of the Most High hath yet descended upon them, and given them power over the devilment of their hearts, over the temptations of the world, over the lusts of the flesh, over the devices of the devil.

A Card from Mrs. Randolph.

To John S. Dean, Agent of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of Wisconsin:

Dear Sir:—It becomes a pleasant duty to acknowledge the promptness with which the Company you represent have paid the sum of Three Thousand Dollars, being the full amount of a Policy of Insurance, issued in January last, on the life of my late husband.

Permit me also to tender my sincere thanks for the assistance rendered by yourself in preparing and forwarding the necessary papers to establish my claim, relieving me of all personal trouble or expense.

AGNES C. RANDOLPH.

REMARKS.—The above card explains itself the sad event which originated the claim being fresh in the memory of this community. Although the terms of the Policy did not obligate the Company to pay the claim until ninety days after proof of death, and the necessities of the family in the present instance did not require it, yet the Company prefer to maintain its established reputation for promptness in settlement of its losses.

It is gratifying to know that we have within the borders of our own State, and a thoroughly reliable and successful institution to the Mutual Life Insurance Company of Wisconsin. The first five years of its existence were to a certain extent an experiment, and some were inclined to look with distrust upon it as compared with Eastern companies, having the accumulations of a long term of years. But doubting days have passed. With its present accumulations of over $30,000, and as successful officers and agents as are employed by any company, there is no longer any reason why Western men should invest their money at the East. The success of the Company for the past two years in procuring new business, as compared with the older companies shows to the disadvantage of the latter, and they are straining every nerve to occupy the field.

It must be apparent to all that Life Insurance is not only important, but the choice of the Company is equally so. The Mutual of Wisconsin is the only North-western Life Insurance Company, and having a strictly mutual Company, all its profits are divided among the policy holders. SAMUEL M. MILLER, President Sub Bank; SIMON MILLS, President Bank of Madison; HON. S. D. HASTINGS, State Treasurer; and JOHN J. R. PEARSE, Janeville, are Trustees of the Company.

Common Council, Dec. 1st, 1884.—His Honor the Mayor was in the Chair and Aldermen Bates, Barnham, Fredendall, Jackson, McDougall and Shelton, present.

On motion of Ald. Jackson the City Engineer was directed to file with the City Clerk certain specifications for sidewalk on the west side of Franklin street, in the 1st Ward, the Alderman being directed to notify owners of property to build the same.

Ald. Shelton introduced a similar resolution in reference to sidewalk on the west side of Holmes street in the 4th Ward.

Sundry accounts were presented and properly referred.

A preamble and resolutions introduced by Aldermen Bates, in reference to certain re-assessed taxes, amounting to $2,569.67, were passed.

The Judiciary committee reported in favor of cancelling a bill filed on lots 166 and 167 in Mitchell's addition, the same having been improperly made out.

The bond of Mr. John H. Brand, road inspector, was presented and approved.

The finance committee reported in favor of paying bill of A. H. Johnson, $10.00, and R. Peckham, $3.

The bids of Messrs. Doe and Thompson were accepted for building sidewalk on north front of lot 14, block 13, Palmer & Sutherland's addition.

R. M. Wheeler was elected road inspector for the west side of the river.

The City Treasurer returned to the Council the special tax warrant and assessment roll for a sidewalk on Main street, assessed to S. C. Spaulding, the same having been collected in full.

An order was introduced by Ald. Jackson and passed, levying upon the real and personal property in the city of Janeville, a tax of $70,000, being the amount paid for bonds to volunteers, under chapter 39 of the general laws of 1864 and the acts amendatory thereof.
